Dear [Hiring Manager],

Your LinkedIn post for an Online English Teacher feels like a perfect match for my background in educational storytelling and digital engagement. Here's what I bring to the table:

- Five years of experience in ESL teaching and content creation
- Skilled in creating engaging online learning experiences
- Proven success in boosting student engagement and performance

In my last role, I noticed that students were tuning out during virtual grammar lessons. To change that, I developed a narrative-based curriculum that wove grammar into an interactive story. The results?

- A 40% jump in student engagement
- A 25% boost in test scores
- Consistent 5-star feedback from students

I love that your company focuses on story-driven learning — it aligns perfectly with my own approach. I was particularly impressed by your interactive grammar course, which makes verb tenses an engaging adventure.

I'd be thrilled to chat about how I could help your students succeed. Thank you for considering my application!

Best Regards,
